

Using YelpAPI I have been able to unfold and analyze how people like us, the customer, is a great asset to review analytics. This can be concluded for the simple fact that running a text analysis snippet will yield several reviews and we can then make our own decisions as a consumer whether to be a customer for a particular restaurant.

The food I have chosen were that of flautas also known as “taquitos” in America (No true Hispanic will ever call them that) location has been set in our locality of El Paso, TX. Many a few reviews express their joy of having consumed said flautas, stating the following: “I could eat 50 of these!! They're small and delicious. I always get 2 orders of beef and 1 of potatoes with lots of carrots.” “Best Place to come and eat very friendly and great flautas The Bes one's in the universe.” These results were able to be retrieved by a simple YelpAPI script, a simple but powerful tool.

Therefore, according to our results (which I have filtered out to just 5 for simplicity), the best flautas you can have in El Paso, TX and Juarez are: La Pila, El Taquito, Roll in Flautas, Tortas Y Mas, and Ke Flauta.
